Jaguar

The Brazilian Pantanal

10 Nights/11 Days

The Brazilian Pantanal is the world's largest tropical wetland at over 60,000 square miles in area. It is also home to the densest and most accessible populations of Jaguars (Panthera onca) on Earth. This unique habitat teems with life and is also home to emblematic species such as Yacare Caiman, Capybara, Brazilian Tapir, Giant Otter, Giant Anteater, and 440+ bird species including Hyacinth Macaws, Toco Toucans, and the nearly 5-foot-tall Greater Rhea!

Travel will be first by vehicle along the Trans-Pantanal Highway, and then by open boat along the Cuiaba, Tres Hermanos, and Piquiri Rivers. Lodging will be land-based for the first and last 2 nights, and the rest of the time on a floating hotel in the absolute center of maximum Jaguar activity, providing us access to a rich mix of Pantanal habitats, wildlife and birds.

On land as well as on the water, our guides, drivers and boat captains will be among the best Brazil has to offer. The acute spotting skills of our tour leader and local guide will help ensure encounters and stunning imagery of not only magnificent Jaguars, but of as much of the incredibly beautiful and diverse wildlife that the Pantanal has to offer.

Thousands of Yacare Caiman live along these rivers (and are a main jaguar food source), and we may also spot a Yellow Anaconda or two. Typically, our guests see 8-12 different Jaguars during such an itinerary, seen over 14-22 different sightings. Simply stated, this is an extraordinary experience that must be lived to be believed.
